Cat answers your Pet Safety FAQs
If used as directed, Zoflora Fresh Home Odour Eliminator and Disinfectant can be used safely on both indoor and outdoor animal areas.

Why choose Zoflora Fresh Home?
 Zoflora has been providing a safe and fragrantly fresh home to generations of families for almost 100 years. With a proven active ingredient, Zoflora helps to improve hygiene by killing 99.9% of bacteria and viruses common in both pet and human homes. It also contains patented odour elimination technology, making it a household essential for animal lovers.

Can Zoflora be used around young animals such as puppies and kittens?

The Veterinary Poisons Information Service advise that as long as directions for use are followed, and treated areas dried completely before your pet has access to it, Zoflora is safe and effective to use.

Can Zoflora be used on soft furnishings such as pet beds, carpets and rugs?

Yes, check for colour fastness first on an inconspicuous area before use. Apply diluted Zoflora with a spray bottle then wipe the area with a damp cloth.

Does Zoflora contain phenol, which would mean it is unsafe to use around pets?

Zoflora goes cloudy in water due to the fragrance oils being insoluble in water, not due to the product containing phenol. As a result, Zoflora disinfectant is safe to use around most pets when used correctly.

FACT

Campylobacter is carried by about half of all dogs and cats, and can cause food poisoning in people. The bacteria are passed on when you stroke your pets. Always wash your hands after coming into contact with pets.

Can Zoflora be used in vivaria / reptile housing?

No, Zoflora is not suitable for use in reptile housing.

Is Zoflora suitable to clean bird and smaller animal cages?

Yes, dilute as instructed in water in a bowl or spray bottle and wipe your cage down with a cloth.

Can Zoflora be used in my pet's feed and water vessels?

No, we wouldn't recommend this as perfumed products such as Zoflora can cause tainting.

Can Zoflora be used in large pet areas such as stables, runs, pens and horseboxes?

Zoflora can be used safely on water washable surfaces, just ensure that the area has dried completely before use.
